DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT.—Mr. Charles S. Taylor, an old and well-known resident of this city, was found dead in his bed at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Julian T. Burke, about seven o'clock yesterday morning. The deceased had been suffering from impaired health recently, though his sudden death was not apprehended, and on Saturday night he fell asleep about seven o'clock shortly after his daughter had given him some medicine. The deceased, who was in his 67th year, was born in Berryville, but came to this city about forty years ago. He was a graduate of the University of Virginia. At the outbreak of the war he left here with the Confederate army and during the four years which followed he was a captain in the commissary department at Charlottesville. Upon his return to Alexandria he and Mr. John S. Blackburn established Potomac Academy. The deceased was a member of the standing and education committees of the diocese of Virginia, and had for many years been a member of St. Paul's Church. In 1882 he was appointed private secretary to Governor Holliday, a position he retained during the Governor's term. About ten years ago he published an interesting pamphlet entitled "The Old Commonwealth of Virginia—its social life and civilization," which was written especially for his grandchildren's perusal. Mr. Taylor married Miss Harriet Fowler, sister of the late W. H. Fowler, who died twenty-two years ago. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 11 o'clock from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. J. T. Burke. The pallbearers will be: Messrs. E. L. Daingerfield, R. J. Daingerfield, W. F. Brookes, J. S. Brookes, W. H. F. Beckham, J. D. Hoer, Richard Blackburn—all nephews and grand-nephews.

"GHOST" CAPTURED.—For several years past what was supposed by the credulous to be a ghost has appeared at night in the neighborhood of St. Paul's Church. At times it was said to resemble a tall woman, attired in white. It generally glided from an alley and would vanish before any one could get close enough to make an investigation. A night or two ago it was seen to enter the alley south of the post-office, and on another occasion some one while witnessing its pranks saw it knock at a door on Duke street and when the call was answered by a lady she slammed the door to and ran back in the house. The "ghost" quickly proceeded down the street and was soon out of sight. On Saturday night the "spectre" suddenly appeared on the corner of Duke and St. Asaph streets. A storekeeper in the neighborhood saw the "spook," summoned courage to approach it, and asked what he could do for it. The interrogator received no reply, and deeming he had had enough intercourse with the ethereal visitor left it. Officer Grady arrived on the scene, however, and he not being a believer in the supernatural, called up to the apparition and found it to be a well-known resident of the neighborhood, who, for amusement, was masquerading.

WILL REMAIN IN ALEXANDRIA.—Rev. Theron H. Rice, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, at yesterday morning's services announced to his congregation his determination to decline the call recently tendered him to the Chaplaincy of the University of Virginia. The announcement was a great relief, not only to the members of his church, but to the entire community, who would have regretted much the severance of his relations with the Second Church. Mr. Rice last night preached an eloquent sermon to a large congregation. There will be preaching every night this week at a quarter to eight o'clock, the pastor and members of the church believing it about to be blessed with a revival season akin to that of Fredericksburg has recently experienced. A prayer service of about forty-five minutes duration will also be held at twelve o'clock each day of this week. A cordial invitation is extended to all. These meetings are designed for the edification of all believers and for the awakening of the careless and indifferent, and they will be conducted in a pacific spirit. While the plain gospel truth will be presented, there will be nothing in the services savoring of sensation or excitement.

DEATH OF AN ESTIMABLE LADY.—Miss Margaret Adams, sister of Mr. James L. Adams, died at her residence, on lower Lee street, this morning. She had been ministering to her brother and sister, who were indisposed Saturday, and though she subsequently complained of being unwell, her death was in no wise expected, and its announcement has produced sincere sorrow wherever she was known. "Miss Margaret," the name by which she had been addressed by the younger generations which have known and justly appreciated her, had been an active though unpretentious church worker for over half a century, and during all those years had given the greater portion of her time and talents toward the training of the young in the Sunday school, and numbers of men and women now among us will recall the fact that it was she who first conducted them within its walls. She was a kind and sympathetic neighbor and was ever on the alert to minister to the sorrowing. A consistent member of the M. E. Church South, she died as she had lived, a humble follower of the great Teacher.

POLICE COURT.—Justice Thompson presiding.—The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Albert Motoz and Adam Jefferson, arrested by Officers Davis, Griffin and Arrington, charged with fighting, were fined $3 each.

Andrew Lomax, colored, arrested by Officer Webster charged with assaulting Ann Watts, colored, was fined $3.

John Broxton, colored, arrested by Officer Ferguson charged with assaulting Ida Stewart, colored, was fined $3.

Wm. Price, colored, arrested by Officers Ferguson and Grady for escaping from the chain gang, had 30 days added to his sentence.

Webster as suspicious characters, were ordered to leave the city.

Rev. W. H. McAllister is confined to his home by sickness.

RAILROAD READING ROOMS.—Mr. E. W. Gamble, of the Theological Seminary, near this city, organized a Bible class in the Railroad Reading Rooms yesterday afternoon with about fifteen young men. Great interest was taken in the lesson as taught by him. This class will continue every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All are invited to come and bring a Bible.

Everybody is invited to be present at the Railroad Reading Rooms to-morrow night where Mr. E. W. Gamble, president of the Railroad Brotherhood Mission, will speak. Bring Gospel Hymns 5 and 6 and some friend.

Immediately after the above meeting is over the Railroad Brotherhood Mission will hold a meeting for men only to which all men from 18 to 40 years of age are earnestly invited.

THE LATE CAPTAIN GOUNDIE.—The remains of the late Capt. R. M. Goundie were taken from Washington to Bethlehem, Pa., this morning and will there be interred on Wednesday. Capt. Goundie resided in this city during the building of the Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railroad and with Mr. Paul J. White surveyed the line and superintended its construction and was then made supervisor of the road from Washington to Quantico, which office he held up to his demise. Capt. Goundie was an ardent democrat and never failed to go to his home at all elections to deposit his vote.

A VISIT.—The boys of the Masonic Home, Richmond, accompanied by Major R. A. Courtney, President of the Board of Governors, C. A. Nesbitt, secretary, and Mrs. Acre, are now in Washington, quartered in the National Hotel. They are on an expected to arrive in this city, where they will take the electric cars at 11 a. m. for Mount Vernon. Upon their return they will be tendered an informal lunch at the Masonic Temple. All Masons and their wives are invited to meet the party at the temple upon their return.

YESTERDAY was a bright, crisp Sunday. Many people were on the streets and the churches were all well attended. Services were conducted according to the announcements made on Saturday. At the Baptist Church Rev. J. H. Butler gave an account of his stewardship during the past four years, the time of his pastorate of that church, stating that about two hundred names had been added to the membership; that $2,800 had been paid on church improvements and that the church was free of debt.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL BRIDGE.—The bill to provide for a memorial bridge across the Potomac, to connect Washington with the National Cemetery at Arlington, was defeated in the House by Messrs. Dingley and Dockery. Mr. Meredith called the measure up and made a speech in its favor. He had asked for unanimous consent to have the measure considered, but both Mr. Dingley and Mr. Dockery objected. Their action had the effect of killing the bill for this Congress.

ARREST OF A THIEF.—Lieutenant Smith and Officer Hall this morning arrested Ernest Wilson in "Petersburg," who is charged with stealing some clothing, a gun, pistol, watch, chain, &c., from Holland Hall, in Fairfax county, this morning between the hours of 4 and 6, the property of Mr. Egbert Thompson. Lawrence Bright, an Alexandria youth, was also arrested on suspicion of being an accomplice. All the stolen articles were recovered.

CRITICALLY ILL.—Jessie Popp, the woman who was found dangerously ill and without food or fuel during the late blizzard, is still critically ill. It will be remembered that an individual from Washington came here and performed an operation on the woman. Her recovery is said to be doubtful.

Two Lives Saved.—Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life.

Mr. Thomas Eggers, of 139 Florida street, San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.

PARTIES who intend to build would do well to call on Snoot & Co., corner of Cameron and Union streets, as they are selling Building Material and Mill Work cheaper than ever. They make a special discount to contractors and builders.

A False Diagnosis.—La Grippe is confounded by many persons with a severe attack of catarrh, which in some respects resembles the former. These individuals suffer severely with pain about the forehead, eyes and ears, with soreness in throat and stoppage of the nasal passages, and in fact, are incapacitated for work of any kind for days at a time. These are catarrhal sufferings. Ely's Cream Balm has been used with the best results in such cases. The remedy will give instant relief.

VIRGINIANS ON LINCOLN.

In Richmond on Tuesday night Mr. Joseph Bryan delivered a lecture on Pocahontas for the benefit of the Society for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities. Mr. Bryan, during the war, was one of Mosby's men. In the course of his remarks, he said: "Whatever merit belongs to those who, at last, set the negroes free has been idealized and personified by Abraham Lincoln—a man who, in my opinion, will continue to grow in the love and admiration of coming generations. Those of us who remember our feelings during the war must be astonished at the change which has come over them in regard to Mr. Lincoln. His wisdom, his sense of justice, his tenderness and his firmness, his simple devotion to the great cause in which his life was sacrificed, all bespeak for him, from impartial minds, a high place among the towering sons of America. This Lincoln, though born in Kentucky, was the child of parents who were born in Virginia of obscure families, and so, at last, was reserved for a Virginian in blood, however obscure it was, to receive applause for an act done in violence and blood which Virginia, of the noblest ancestry, nearly a hundred years before had striven to do in peace and by law."

This statement by Mr. Bryan has stirred up Dr. W. W. Parker, who was the major of Parker's Battery, one of the most distinguished batteries in the army of Northern Virginia. Dr. Parker is out in a card, in which he says: "I can't take any stock in Mr. Bryan's laudations of Lincoln. No man in the South at the time of the proclamation had any idea that the object was other than diabolical, and more the emanation of the brain of Seward than Lincoln. It was regarded commonly as a military necessity. There was not an atom of morality in it. No, verily. I think I can prove, first, that Lincoln was not a gentleman in the strict sense of the term; second, that any idea that he was a Christian is absurd; third, that he was no scholar, and fourth, that he was a very smart, strong-minded, not malicious, but kind-hearted man. To ascribe to him great, broad, philanthropic motives is an insult to our understanding; to compare him to Washington or Lee, is positively nauseating. Mr. Bryan's attempt to infuse greatness into him by the foul current of Virginian blood was exceedingly lame, and, perhaps, demoralizing."

SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY.—The Southern Railway Company has made a new contract with the Asheville and Spartanburg and the Spartanburg, Union and Columbia railroads, controlled by John H. Inman. The two roads had been operated under a rental of $80,000. The Southern Railway has leased the roads for an annual rental of $40,000 and given the roads 5,000 shares of Southern Railway preferred and 5,000 shares of common stock.

The report from Atlanta that the Southern Railway Company had purchased the roads is untrue. The roads were excluded from the Richmond Terminal reorganization by Drexel, Morgan & Co.
